

Hello!

This is a very rough idea and layout of what it can be! This is not the final. I wanted to focus on the primary task of booking an appointment. This step is a very important one on the list of interactions that this app will have therefore we need to dissect and analyze it with precision.

Side note: There are some empty spaces throughout and that is because we don't have a logo or pictures yet but they can be filled in later!

Thoughts on putting prescriptions, patient records (for patients to see) and patient referral information on the app

What information will we be seeking when they input the insurance information?

Do you want the patients to see the doctors licenses if so how much information about that doctor should they be exposed to?

How much of the vetting process do we want the patients to know?

Where will their billing information go? To their email? Stay on the app? Does the patient get a copy of it?

What are the rules about etiquette? What happens in they miss an appointment? How much time do they have to cancel before the appointment?

Do we want to give them a reminder about payment when they book the appointment?
